PRESIDENT COOLIDGE has appointed, to investigate the oil scandal, two lawyers, one a Republican, one a Democrat, both respectable gentlemen, but about them the public as a whole, knows little or nothing.

It would have been wiser, in regards public opinion, and the President's own political chances, to appoint two first-class fighting men like Senators Hiram Johnson, Borah or James A. Reed.

However, the men appointed, will do their duty, and Congress has power, quite apart from any action by the Executive.

OR THE President might have chosen Max Steuer, of New York. That fighting person would have gotten both givers and takers of bribes.

SECRETARY DENDY, of the Navy, says concerning hearing of all lands that belong to the Navy, "I would do it all over again tomorrow."

Of course that does not mean that the Secretary approves all the financial trimmings that went with the deal, the government bonds handed over, checks that were given and not cashed, the valise full of cash handed to a member of the Cabinet of the United States.

SOME of that, undoubtedly, Mr. Dendy would change.

What, is more important, however, than Secretary Dendy's opinion, is what Congress and the people will do.

They will see that it is not "done all over again."

DR. MANNING, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of New York, urges contributions to the fifteen million dollar fund to build the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. He says "the $15,000,000 fund will make it the greatest church in the Catholic speaking world."

That depends on what the Bishop means by "greatest." If he means the "biggest," that may be true. Money can make the "biggest" thing, but it cannot make the "greatest."

THERE is a "greediness" in many a little church that you couldn't build into a cathedral if you had a hundred and fifty millions to spend on it. That's one consoling thing in life. What is worth while, apart from science, money cannot buy. Even in science money only pays for laboratory and materials, not for thinking.

CONSIDERING the number of hungry children in this world, do you think the founder of Christianity who taught "where to lay their head" would be very enthusiastic about spending fifteen million dollars, three hundred million dollars of bread on an expensive, inadequate imitation of buildings that are REAL, only when they are built and inspired by simple faith?

JUDGE GARY puts the corn company on a 7 per cent. basis. He doesn't promise to keep it there, but will do so properly later. He has no reason, judging by earnings of his own company—biggest in five years—to doubt that prosperity will last.

STEEL is to civilization what the skeleton is to your body. And the steel industry. Continued on Page 2, Col. 7.

Jesse Murphy Guilty of Murder

FACES LIFE TERM IN PRISON

Man Freed After Confessing Boston Killing Convicted of Detroit Slaying

Jesse Murphy, famous convict who a year ago stood trial for the murders of two chain store managers and was acquitted, is on the road to life imprisonment today. He was convicted of first degree murder in Detroit.

When he manages an escape from the prison man who has been in prison most of his life, will end it by taking the law.

Murphy was convicted of shooting a man in a hotel in a "blind eye" case. The following is a summary of the case: Murphy was held up and shot in the back of the head in August last. He was with other bandits when the shooting occurred. The victim died.

Only a few months before Murphy had declared in Boston he would walk the straight and narrow path for the remainder of his life.

CONFESSED KILLING. He came into notoriety five years ago when he made a confession in the Eastern Penitentiary in Philadelphia where he was serving a twelve-year sentence for the shooting of a paymaster, that he had

Danish Prince Has Lost Miss Green, U. S. Fiancee

New York, Jan. 31.—Dr. James O. Green and his daughter, Miss Eleanor Green, today announced that no engagement exists between Miss Green and Prince Viggo of Denmark.

The engagement was announced in 1921, in Copenhagen last month and later denied by Dr. Green, who said the prince arrived here yesterday on the Mafeking.

Dr. Green's opposition to the wedding is responsible for killing the hopes of the Prince.

PRICE TOO LOW, RUOLS PUPPY IN FURNACE

Jacob Schurman, of No. 15 Spring street, West Roxbury, missed a little Pomeranian puppy and twice threw the animal to the cement floor after which he hurled the mangled remains into a blazing furnace.

Arraigned today in West Roxbury court, Schurman paid a fine of $100. Charles Young of No. 23 Hylbert street, was the principal witness in the case. He testified that he went to Schurman's place to buy a dog and that Schurman offered him two Pomeranians, one for $25 and another for $15. He offered $15 for the better of the two dogs.

"I'll kill her for $15," Schurman shouted in anger.

He seized the unoffending puppy which weighed less than four pounds, and threw the animal violently to the floor.

The dog howled pitifully. This increased Schurman's rage.

He again seized the dog and threw it, even harder than the first time, to the floor.

The animal lay still.

Then Schurman took the mangled remains and tossed them into the door of the blazing furnace.

Young reported the matter to the S. P. C. A., and agents of the society brought about the arrest after an investigation.

Walsh Resolution Adopted in Senate; Charges of Corruption Stand

Washington, Jan. 31.—The Senate this afternoon passed the Walsh resolution, declaring that the leasing of oil lands in California and Wyoming to E. I. Doherty and Harry F. Sinclair, was surrounded by "fraud and corruption" and directing President Coolidge to institute legal proceedings to cancel the leases made by former Secretary of the Interior Albert F. Fall.

A provision "which inserted makes it necessary for the Senate to formally approve the selection of the Secretary of the Interior and Thomas W. Gregory of Texas, already named by the President, to start proceedings against Doherty and Sinclair, the vote was unanimous, eighty-eight Senators casting ballots.

As soon as the Walsh resolution was adopted, the Senate took up the Robinson resolution, demanding the resignation of Secretary of the Navy Denby.

A move to attack the Robinson resolution, calling for the resignation of Secretary Denby, to the Walsh oil lease amendment measure, was made. Immediately after the Senate adjourned, the amendment was sponsored by Senator Trammell of Florida.

Immediate opposition was voiced by Senator Lodge, who declared "very strongly" such a declaration by Congress would be a "very serious" step.

Senator Lodge described the Trammell resolution as a "very serious" step, and declared that it was "a very serious" step.

Spurned Nobles for Man of Brawn

Somerville Girl Won by American Who Wins Wife, Not a Pocketbook

Twenty-two year old, of No. 31 Highland street, Chelsea, she married Haley last night in a ceremony held in Norway, and planned to take him for life. Today she is on her honeymoon with John P. Haley, a "He-Man" from Chelsea.

Haley is official collector of ashes for the city of Chelsea. He contracts for the business with the street department. He hires a crew of help, but he makes the rounds himself, driving his big truck and keeping it by looking a barrel now and then.

HANDY WITH CHECK BOOK. It must be excellent training for the "he-man" competition, because—

When Miss Ramsey, twenty-two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Ramsey of No. 41 Walnut street, returned from her tour a year ago, she told interviewers aboard the liner that she was "fed up on the gold-digging, parasitic noblemen of the Old World and wanted some 'he-man' once more."

Haley is no Jack Dempsey in physique, but his friends say he shakes a wicked fountain pen when it comes to signing business contracts.

He is about five feet eleven inches tall, light complexion, and medium build, verging on slimness. He is described as a determined, reserved, efficient business man.

All this is doubtless true, to say the least. Miss Ramsey and her new husband were married in the rectory of St. Patrick's church, Union square, and returned to Chelsea last night.

U. S. WINS FROM BRITAIN AT HOCKEY, 11-0

The Yankees tomorrow play the second team in the upper half, probably Sweden.

The Americans opened with a rush. Drury scored from a pass from Rice, fifty seconds after the period began. The British attack forced against them at right defences, but he hooked the puck and

SUE EXECUTORS OF ROBERTS FOR $685,000

Johnson Charges Late Gandy Man Diverted That Sum to His Cleveland Company

Clement F. Johnson of Newell, a stockholder in the F. H. Roberts Company, manufacturers of Apollo Chocolates, brought suit today to recover for shareholders $685,000 which he claims was misappropriated and diverted by the late Fred H. Roberts.

Johnson alleges that in 1918 Roberts organized a company in Cleveland to carry on a similar business to that of the F. H. Roberts Company, which has its main plant in Cress street, North End.

Fred H. Roberts, it is alleged, was president and director of the Cleveland company and in 1923, it is charged, he violated his fiduciary duty and diverted funds and assets from the old company to the new one.

Mr. Roberts, who died in Wilmington, died in 1923 and John P. R. Hayes and the Old Colony Trust Company, executors of his estate, are named as defendants.

William H. Cole, vice-president, and Charles R. Rockwell, treasurer, are charged by Johnson with full knowledge of the alleged wrongful use and of the unlawful and improper expenditures made or caused to be made by Roberts.

Judge O'Connell adjourned the executors from discussing any of the stock held in Roberts name and Cole and Rockwell have stipulated that the affairs of the company will remain in statu quo pending the outcome of the suit.

Thrills Promised at Society Gymkhana for Charity, Betty Alden Says

By BETTY ALDEN

IN her heyday, Lena was considerable of a "high sticker."

Many and many a man fell beneath her magic spell. Fell, not wisely, but too heavily.

But Lena is getting along in years now. Her career is over. No longer do members of the sterner sex fall at her feet the way they used to, nor audiences stamp their feet and about their "bravo."

So, being the wise philosopher that she is, Lena smiles down on the stirring days gone by—and contentedly munches hay in the Webster stables out Chestnut Hill way.

Yes, Lena is a donkey. A donkey with a glorious, colorful past. For Lena used to be with a traveling circus and verily did men fall at her feet when Lena "bucked." "Bucking," in fact, was her profession, nay, an art.

And wonderful, indeed, was her technique!

WE happen to be writing about Lena, because on February 16 she's going to the Commonwealth Armory and show everyone there all the "kick" she still has.

On the afternoon and evening of the 16th society is holding a gymkhana there for the benefit of the Children's Hospital.

There will be all kinds of riding stunts to thrill the spectators, as well as some fast polo matches—to say nothing of Lena.

George von L. Meyer and George Peabody Gardner, Jr., are prime movers for this novel way of filling money and deserving coffers.

Albany-haired Mrs. "Rex" Foster of Beacon Hill is among the ladies sponsoring the affair, as are also Mesdames Harold J. Colledge, George S. Mandell, Robert Meaux, Frederick E. Mead, Charles P. Curtis, Jr., J. S. Hunt, William Wolcott and Miss Hammond Adle. Among the men are H. Nasson Hamlin, Clark T. Baldwin, Robert F. Herrick, and Thomas H. Lennan.

And tickets may be had after Monday at the State Street Trust Company, both at the State street and Copley square offices.

THE Mreps Hunt Club's following will be interested to learn that one of the members, Corwin Black, was married on Tuesday afternoon to Mrs. Morrison La Roche.

Only immediate members of the families were present at the ceremony, which was solemnized at the New York home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Edward A. Morrison, Jr. The bride, daughter of the late Edward A. Morrison, Jr., was attended by her daughter, Isabelle, as flower girl.

James A. Edwards was best man for the groom, who is also a member of the Union League and the Explorers' Club.

MRS. QUINCY A. SHAW, 2nd (Nasson Mitchell), of Prides Crossing, is visiting for a while at Palm Beach with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Mitchell. Most of the winter Mrs. Shaw has been at Alhambra, where the Shaws have their winter home.

Mrs. Henry Sigourney of Beacon street and her daughter, Miss Edith Sigourney, have sailed on board the Cunard liner Scythia, bound for L. M. Mediterranean.

Mrs. M. gave a luncheon at Palm Beach the other day in honor of Mr. Richard Sears and Mr. Alfred Dorr of Boston, who are house guests of Mrs. Charles F. Choate.

THE Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. K. G. G. were among the capital's dinner guests of Tuesday evening.

JOHN NICHOLAS BROWN, formerly of Boston, has been re-elected to the vestry of the Emmanuel Episcopal Church in Newport. He graduated from Harvard last June.

MRS. STEPHEN WHEAT, LAND of Topsfield is making a mid-winter sojourn at Ormond Beach, Fla., staying at the Coquina Hotel.

MR. AND MRS. FRANCIS H. CABOT and their daughter, Miss Maud Cabot, have left New York for a trip around the world on board the Empress of Canada of the Canadian Pacific Line. Madeira is the first stop.

STORM-RACKED LINER IN WITH DEATH TOLL

Passenger Swept Overboard, Many Hurt, as Elements Buffet Cleveland

New York, Jan. 31 (I.N.S.)—With one of her passengers dead, another swept overboard and several seriously injured, the United American liner Cleveland reached port today after fighting the worst storm in her history. Her decks were swept clean of much of their equipment, port windows were smashed and the rails twisted and bent.

Simon Kohn, seventy-four, bound for Harrisburg, Pa., with his wife and son and daughter-in-law, died as a result of the severe weather and the rough voyage. Frank Kileniski, an Austrian electrical engineer, was washed overboard and drowned.

Mrs. Joseph Archer, en route from Austria to St. Louis, narrowly escaped a similar fate when a huge wave carried her deck chair against the railing. She was seriously bruised. Three other women were injured in the accidents.

The Cleveland was two weeks on the voyage from Hamburg. At though the vessel is 550 feet long and 17,000 tons, she was tossed about like a cork for ten days. Two days out iceberg menaced her.

STRIKE TROUBLES IN RUHR GROWING
Dusseldorf, Jan. 31.—The strike situation in the Ruhr and adjoining regions shows no signs of improvement and conditions in some sections are growing worse. The strike movement among the textile workers in Elberfeld and Barmen is growing, while negotiations for ending the strike in the textile industry at Crefeld have failed.

Answer to H. J. M. Better consult a specialist. Your hair may be falling out because of some organic disorder.

Answer to A. D. Study your features. Maybe your hair should be waved more at the sides. If you want to keep it in curls for a party, be sure to wrap a towel around your head when bathing.

Answer to Mrs. F. J. After brushing your hair at night, let it hang loose. It needs air, just as your skin does.

Answer to Mrs. C. W. One of the best imported shaving sticks is wonderful for shampoo. My brother lets me use his.

NO FREE STATE GUNS ON ULSTER BORDER

Rublin, Jan. 31 (AP).—Don't on his conscience," said General Mac-mah, Free State Minister of Defense, when his attention was called today to a statement made by District Inspector Nixon at the Orange Loan in Belfast, that the border between the Free State and the six northern counties was manned by Free State army forces with armored cars and airplanes.

"We have no army or airplanes except to Nixon's Dublin," said General Macmah, "and no armored car except that of the Dublin police."

Belfast, Jan. 31.—In connection with the coming Ulster boundary negotiations in London, Sir James Craig said today:
"All the members of the Cabinet are determined to stand firm by the often expressed and well-understood decision regarding the boundary."

EX-WIFE WOULD BE MARRIED TO DUELL AGAIN

Regrets That She Divorced Motion Picture President in Paris

New York, Jan. 31.—Mrs. Charles Duell Duell, only a few hours in from France, admitted that she had obtained a divorce in Paris from Mr. Duell, president of Inspiration Pictures.

Mrs. Duell declared that she had been "an involuntary plaintiff" and regretted that she had been divorced. She said they were the best of friends.

Asked why she had denied the divorce on her arrival, explained that in order that a divorce could be granted Mr. Duell had to be in Paris, and he was not there up to the time she left.

"However, I have since learned that the divorce was granted," she said. "It will not become final, however, for two months."

MINERS HOWL AT MEMBER OF CABINET

Stormy Time as a "Respectful Hearing" Is Asked for Davis

Washington, Jan. 31.—Miners and hooves greeted James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, when he was introduced by President John L. Lewis to the National convention of the United Mine Workers of America here today. Lewis had asked for a respectful hearing for "a member of the President's Cabinet."

While the tumult proceeded Lewis again took the floor and shouted at the top of his voice to make himself heard.

"The honor of your organization is at stake. You are on trial before the country. Exercise self-restraint that our organization be not publicly shamed."

He then requested those unwilling to hear the speaker to leave the hall.

"GRAB BAG" PAY ENVELOPE SCARES AWAY GIRL JOB HUNTER

The American prints today another story of a girl looking for work in Boston.

Wednesday morning before going to a comfortable employment agency, I decided to try the labor market. After a wait of about ten minutes, a woman called me to an inner office and questioned me.

She was surprised the experience of any kind. I told her I had no experience, then she said, "You are a girl, aren't you?"

"Yes," I replied. "I am a girl, but I am not a girl looking for work. I am a girl looking for a job." She said, "You are a girl, aren't you?"

"Yes," I replied. "I am a girl, but I am not a girl looking for work. I am a girl looking for a job." She said, "You are a girl, aren't you?"

BIRTH OF NORTH END HEALTH UNIT

CORNERSTONE LAID FOR NEW HEALTH UNIT

With hundreds of children looking on from the streets and windows, Mayor Curley today laid the corner stone for the new North End Health Unit. The ceremony was held at the corner of North Street and Commercial Street, where the new building will be erected. The Mayor, accompanied by a large delegation, placed a granite block, marking the official start of the building. The block was inscribed with the name of the late George R. White, whose generosity made the building possible. The ceremony was attended by many children, who were given candy and other treats. The new Health Unit will be a large, modern building, which will provide a place for the sick and the poor to receive medical attention. It will also serve as a place for the community to meet and for the children to play. The building is expected to be completed by the summer of 1925.

MELLOWED K'S 25 P. C. CUT IN INCOME TAX

Regards Plan for Reducing This Year's Levy as Practical and Feasible. Washington, Jan. 31.—(Reduction of the 1923 personal income taxes, payable this year on the basis of the Democratic tax revision plan, which would cut the normal rates 25 per cent, on incomes of $2,000 and 4 per cent, under $2,000, was proposed in a joint resolution presented to the House today by Representative Carter of Texas. Chairman Green of the House Ways and Means Committee, author of the new proposal, objected to immediate consideration of the results.

JUDGES BALK ON TRYING CASES

Three judges in Superior Court refused today to receive cases sent them by Judge Louis Cox, in charge of a group of civil cases for trial in various seasons of Superior Court, growing rumors current for months of disunion among judges, caused by the methods of Chief Justice Walter Peckley Hall to expedite the business of the court. The reasons given for the judges in making refusal known was the expiration of the term of the judges and they did not feel called upon to try actions which might last several days. Judge Cox communicated with Judge Peckley Hall, but he was not successful in convincing the judges to proceed with new cases. Judge Peckley Hall, who is in charge of the court, said that he was not sure if the judges would accept the cases or not. He said that he was not sure if the judges would accept the cases or not. Mayor Curley appeared in support of a petition providing for the construction of a station on the Cambridge subway line at Cambridge and Street street. The road also would be a two-week continuance on that bill.

LABOR CABINET SHIES AT PAYING $770 FOR COURT GARB

London Jan. 31.—British labor, anxious to supply the new Cabinet members with court dresses for official functions, are bemoaning members of the government with expensive advertising their wares. The lowest figure for a conventional court suit with knee breeches and silk stockings, is $100. The minister said some of his colleagues were buying smart attire but that others would not waste their money.

FALSE MODESTY WRECKS HEALTH

THE young lady just assuming the responsibilities of a wife is very apt to be self-conscious of her physical features, and in consequence neglect them. There is no time, however, when it is more important for her to look after them. Chief among her troubles is constipation, and by suffering will be serious when she gets older if she does not regulate her bowels now. Mrs. Mary Keller of 132 Boston St., Sisterville, W. Va., was troubled by her daughter until she was cured by Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at her home, and she did likewise. Miss Irene Masters of 90 Peter St., Buffalo, N. Y., said her attention was called to Syrup Pepsin.

SAFE FOR YOUNG AND OLD

Let mothers with growing daughters interest themselves in this matter and see that their judgment is satisfied. A rule followed by many is to take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin once a week until the bowels function daily, and at such other times as there is headache, indigestion, sour and Standard Oil securities in the list is a 100 percent return, which by study shows that the average annual income of an investor from January 1, 1929, to December 1, 1932, was 12 1/2 percent.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

When preparing candied peel, remove the sugar from the inside of the bowl. It may be used for sweetening milk, pudding and other delicacies with a sharp knife; never cut it in thick chunks.

When boiling an old fowl or tough meat, add a pinch of soda to the water. Runny gravy and the meat will be tender.

If bright newspapers and letters have to be used over a smoky fire, smear a little grease over the bright part and it will prevent the smoke from darkening the letters. If washed after use in hot water the stain will be as bright as ever.

Rain smears on clothes can be removed by putting a cloth, damp with water, on the material and ironing it with a moderately warm iron.

A little bicarbonate of soda mixed to a paste with cold water is a splendid remedy for ink marks, perspiration and other stains from white silk.

MEDBURY SAYS--

By John P. Medbury
SINCE Count Salm was so successful in his standard of courtship the members of royalty in Europe are planning to make it a requirement for any Duke, Lord, Earl or Baron to marry an American girl with less than forty million dollars.

It got so bad for a while that a lot of these foreigners forgot all about the money and were trying our women for love.

It's all right to get married for love, providing you have no other reason.

It's better to have a homely girl with a bankroll than a pretty one with a lot of debts.

MOST of these title-holders come over to this country looking for work and when they can't find a job they do the next best thing and get married.

INSTEAD of her picking his pockets, he goes through her stockings at night.

THE first thing an American heiress is supposed to do after she's married is to pay her husband's bills.

IF she doesn't, a man then has grounds for divorce.

MOST of these noblemen are wed in full dress, but it would be more appropriate for them to get married in a business suit.

COUNT Salm probably didn't get married for money. There's no doubt but what he would have loved Miss Rogers just as much if she'd only had twenty million.

IT'S not the kind of man to let a lot of money stand in the way of his happiness.

THE same is true of love. In a matter of love you find romance in an outlook.

YOU'RE NEVER SO TIRED YOU CAN'T DO SOMETHING YOU LIKE TO DO.

You have fallen into the habit of being "completely tired out" when you reach home in the evening, but it is largely a habit, not actual weariness, and you would better acknowledge it.

No matter how tired you are from work, if something particularly interesting to you comes up in the evening, you manage to enjoy it.

No matter how little you may have done in the day, if you are asked to do anything distasteful to you, you manage to do it.

You completely let down when there is nothing before you planning enough for an incentive and every evening at home you are full of "yawn" condition.

If your wife wants you to accompany her to some affair, which she is interested in, you are too tired to go, but if there is something about it which interests you, you are up and ready to go.

You have little sympathy for your wife's objects in life and sometimes it is the wife who is the "third member" but wherever and whenever it is a discordant note in any home life.

CORRECT MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beckman

DEAR MRS. BECKMAN: Just what is the proper acknowledgment of gifts and flowers sent to the hospital on the arrival of a baby? Of course, a card of thanks out of the city, but how is the city?

GIFTS and flowers should, I think, be answered and acknowledged by a note of thanks. An engraved card of thanks is, in all cases, not good taste, either to people out of town or in town. It is an impersonal, chilly, formal expression for a personal, warm, informal thought.

If the patient is too weak to write, it is generous for some member of the family or nurse friend to offer to write the letter on her behalf. If the patient is able to do so, she may send her valet or nurse, during convalescence, with "With deep appreciation of your most kind thoughts of me and for the beautiful roses" written across the card. Or she may send a short note something like this:

"Dear Roseanne--How kind you were to have a such a beautiful and friendly thought of me, and to express that thought in the wondrous way of roses. The flowers were lovely, and I assure you that they brought me a message of beauty that added brightness to the days in the hospital. Thank you most lovingly for your kind thought of me. You should see the new baby--he loved the roses, too. I know. Do come soon to see us both. Love, Roseanne."

DEAR MRS. BECKMAN: I am invited to attend a birth day party. I do not know the girl who is having the party, but a young man friend of mine would like to go with him as each gentleman invited is asked to invite a young lady. If so what would you suggest I bring?

IT is not essential that you take a gift to the party, but if you wish, you may take a box of candy, a box of glass fruit, a box of flowers or a corsage of flowers for the hostess to wear or to use as table decoration.

DEAR MRS. BECKMAN: A fraternity of which I am a member will hold an informal dinner in the near future at a hotel. The members of the chapter holding the affair will wear tuxedos. Kindly inform me what the proper dress is for the ladies. Friends of the members wear tuxedos.

A READER
THE ladies should wear semi-formal dance dresses.

DEAR MRS. BECKMAN: A contrails that altar given to a newly-married couple by a gentleman friend of both should have her maiden last name initial inscribed upon it.

MR. BECKMAN: I should be the husband's initial. What does that entail? If it is a wedding present, even though belated, it should be engraved as it would have been engraved if it had been sent before the wedding.

The Little People Are Not Discouraged

Rather the Great, Realizing Their Own Littleness

Copyright, 1924, Star Co.

It has been suggested that "highly developed men" can safely contemplate cosmic greatness and the littleness of humanity, but that the small people need to feel that "the work in which we are engaged is for us the most important in the world."

Our own opinion leads just the other way. Human ABILITY varies. But the IMAGINATIONS of men are very much alike, and the growth of men and their mental peace depend, to a great extent, on the development and stimulation of imagination.

The first study of the vast distances beyond this world, the great suns and clusters of suns, was made BY SIMPLE SHEPHERDS ON THE HILLS AT NIGHT, NOT BY HIGHLY DEVELOPED MEN.

The LITTLE man, in our opinion, is not discouraged, but often made happy in his little work by thinking of the great works and the great things outside of his tiny corner of life.

Millions of people, believing in all kinds of different religions, have been made happy and contented by contemplation of the wonders presented to their minds in religious teachings. Wouldn't such minds be happier still if they combined with religious faith intelligent study of the great truths that astronomy teaches, with its vast insight into cosmic machinery?

This IS an antithesis upon which we live and our planet IS but a dust speck in the Milky Way. It may discourage the BIG man if you convince him that he is only a little insect on an insect planet.

Alexander the Great, conquering Persia, slapping his chest as he entered Babylon, or bowed to Egypt's sacred bull, planning his "great city," to be built in the outstretched hand of a Colossus hewn from the rock, might have been really discouraged if the truth as to his own littleness could have been put before him.

He sighed vaingloriously for other worlds to conquer. He might have been discouraged if somebody had made him understand that he was simply a human ant, leading the fighting Macedonian ants against the effete, parasite ants of Asia; just as certain tribes of savage ants, hardy and vigorous, attack and destroy their degenerate fellows in insect warfare.

It might have discouraged Napoleon to learn that even if he DID realize his dream and ride on the back of an elephant across Asia, proclaiming himself Emperor of the whole world—even then he would be only a joke to outside worlds and later history.

We believe that the average small man is really encouraged and made happy if you convince him of the smallness of the earth and its people and of the vastness of the universe as compared with our tiny earth home.

In the great cosmic machine HE is one of the little working wheels and about as good as any other one. He feels that it is glorious to live up even to a humble duty in so vast a mechanism, and he does not envy the noisy and the great, since, after all, they, too, are all struggling but for a day.

Labor Premier's Daughter

What of Her Children?

Copyright, 1924, Star Co.

Miss Isobel MacDonald gets the unusual spelling of her name, with an "o" instead of an "a," because that's the Gaelic spelling of "Isobel" in the northern part of Scotland, from whence she and her father come. They talk Gaelic up there as they do in Ireland.

This level-headed, solid young daughter of the British Labor Prime Minister now resides in Downing Street, in the official home of British Prime Ministers—her mother being dead.

She continues attending her lectures in domestic economy, studying laundry work, housewifery and cooking.

It's a pretty picture. But let Labor stay in power; let MacDonald remain Prime Minister, and two, three or perhaps even ONE generation from now may find the female members of his family leaning back in frills and flounces, perhaps with a bottle of smelling salts at the nose, and the male members digging up aristocratic royal ancestors, rather ashamed of the workman that started them.

Human beings are about all the same, and you can't change their nature in a hurry. But you CAN change it in a hundred thousand years. We were once all cannibals; now we only eat the lower animals, not each other.

Equinoctial Storm

There's No Such Thing

Copyright, 1924, Star Co.

After you have spent your life believing in the Equinoctial storm and have moved away from the seaside forty times early in September to avoid that storm, you learn officially from the weather department that there is no such thing as an Equinoctial storm.

On March 21 and September 22, the days and nights are equally long, which gives the Equinox. The human mind invented the Equinoctial storm, but it doesn't exist. Along about that time there may be a storm, the same as at any other time; that's all there is to it.

You are also told that the moon has no effect on the weather whatever. It doesn't, of course, affect the TIDES, as every child knows and as most grown men don't know.

Simple-minded men seeing that the moon affected the tide, thought it MUST effect other things, and so invented the "dry moon" and the "wet moon." There is no such thing; forget about it.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

IN the course of my day's work I call many strangers over the 'phone. These strangers are usually women. Rarely do I meet these women or enter into their lives. But those lives are revealed in three minutes over that 'phone as fully as if I had spent a month in their homes. Have you ever considered the character quality shown by 'phone voices, particularly the voices of women? Men do not reveal themselves as fully in their voices. Life has given them an insulation of impersonality. They hand you their voices as they would hand you tools—hammers, or fountain pens or tickets. Little of the real man goes with the exchange. But women hand you themselves. All that they have done to life, or life has done to them, is reflected in their "hello."

There's the eager young voice of the Modern Girl. A very confident voice, rather egotistical, tuned a bit too tightly, high strung, tippy, but capable of harmony if properly adjusted. A spirit in the making lies behind that voice. A very shallow spirit as yet, a mere bus-relief of a spirit, but who knows what may come! I like those young voices. I even like the defiance that rasps through them at times. There is a certain element of righteousness in that defiance. They are being assayed at the things we Older Ones have adored. But many of those things are shams. It is time humanity grew sassy at such shams. I have great hopes for those young voices.

Then there is the Married Voice. It doesn't take long to put the married timber in a woman's voice. That timber differs. There's the arrogant married woman. The woman who attains matrimony with difficulty is apt to be of this class. She is very proud of being married. There is a smug eertainty about her voice which puts the unmarried woman in her place as certainly as a poke in the jaw. You're fairly sure that the lady's husband asks permission before he smokes in the parlor. Likewise no snip of a newspaper writer is going to tell HER anything about raising children or running a home unless she produces a wedding certificate.

There are many kinds of martyrs, but the Married Martyr is always in a class by herself. You can hear her snuffle before she has finished her hello. She is a Great Soul Who Is Grossly Misunderstood. Her words bubble up slowly through a puddle of repressed tears. You long for a mop. Give her five minutes and she'll either tell you about her operations or William's brutality.

And then there's the Voice That Never Had a Chance. This voice may be married or unmarried, but it's always miserable. It is a flat, bitter, limp voice. It represents its fate, but it does all its resenting lying down and sniveling. It is always full of excuses and evasions and blame for someone else. It answers your briskness with peevish suspicion. You have offended that voice by even calling it up. You have no right to be brisk while it is oppressed by fate. The owner of that voice hands you a personality like a cold, wet oyster and then wonders why the world isn't warm with welcome.

And then there's the blessed voice that's glad it's alive. The crisp, interested, busy voice, with a good digestion. The voice that packs a wallop. Defeat doesn't dent or flatten that voice, adversity doesn't thin it. It has a comeback like the punch of a great piston. It is the comeback of a fine soul. I'd like to slide down the wire and wrap myself around the neck of every voice like that!

DR. FRANK CRANE ON THE MAN WHO SHOULD BE PRESIDENT

By Dr. Frank Crane

UNDER the title of "The Man Who Should Be President," Glenn Frank, the editor of the Century Magazine, gives an interesting sketch of the sort of person who should be nominated for President of the United States at one of the coming conventions.

Briefly he states that the next President ought to be courageous and independent enough to put the welfare of the country above his desire to get votes for his party, or his own re-election.

Second, he should be a man whose mind is open upon the question of the relation of the United States to other nations. To make our foreign policy a partisan matter is no less than a calamity.

Third, the next President should be a man who realizes that the government of the United States is a growing thing, constantly developing, and not a fixed piece of machinery constructed by our gifted forefathers, never to be changed.

Fourth, the next President should be one who will take the people in general into his confidence and use the press intelligently.

Fifth, the next President should not be a mere deal slave and a job distributor, but should give his attention principally to the spiritual leadership of the nation.

It is safe to say that this kind of a President will not be nominated. Presidents are elected by the people, but they are selected by the political parties. These parties are held together by the dead hand of organization. They were called into existence by live issues. Today they are "organizations in which men who differ widely on the issue of the moment are held together by the artificial demands of party loyalty and the selfish desire for office."

In order to hold together they have "to club their members into unity by plans for regularity and appeals to the human desire to be part of a successful group."

Consequently the kind of man who is to be nominated is the kind known as "safe."

That is, his vote-getting power consists in his purely negative qualities. He must have opinions that offend the fewest number.

The result is that the average President of the United States is not a first-class man. He is usually an eminently respectable man and personally our Presidents have ranked very high as clean and honorable citizens. But outside of a few conspicuous exceptions, Presidents as well as Kings are second-class men.

The only way out of this would be to nominate a man who is not a politician, not interested in getting votes, but who is qualified for the job not only by his high personal character but by his intelligence and common sense. Also a man of especially high vision and courage.

I would suggest therefore that the next President be a pure intellectual; that is, a man who is familiar with dealing with ideas and not a man who is merely skilful in handling people.

And in order to relieve the anxiety of the President makers, and save them trouble, I would suggest that they nominate Mr. Glenn Frank.

He is young enough and handsome enough to be interesting. He can make a better speech than any President I happen to have heard. He has no political entanglements and would draw largely on the independent voters of both parties.

He is democratic, genial, and to use a phrase of Bill Nye, "pleasant to be thrown amongst."

Personally speaking, if for that kind of a man should be nominated I think I should vote for him.

If the Democrats and Republicans put up the usual type of President I do not think I should take the trouble to vote at all.

And in so stating I fear that I am expressing the sentiments of a very large number of citizens.

Of course the party bosses want no such man, but if something should happen that they did want such a type of man I am merely telling them his address.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON ANOTHER 'UNIVERSE'

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest

IT is going a little too fast to announce, as if it were an ascertained fact, that the faint star-cluster in the constellation Sagittarius called by astronomers N. G. C. 6522, is another universe of stars. Such a statement could only be a theoretical assumption at best. Besides, the term "another universe" is a misnomer. The universe is the whole creation, or the common, including all stars.

It is better for the avoidance of confusion to restrict the word to this all-comprehending sense, especially since we have the word galaxy a very good term already ready to describe the larger divisions, or members, of the universe. Or, in speaking of such things we can call them starry systems, but surely not universes. There is but one universe, and everything that is subject to its laws, or included in one common domain of radiant energy and gravitation, should be regarded as a portion of it.

Another thing, though, may be a million light-years distant from us, yet, manifestly, it is part of the sphere of our cosmic unity, and, as such, one law, one system.

As we live on a planet revolving around one of the stars of N. G. C. 8828 we might behold our galaxy belted by the Milky Way as a glimmering speck, just glimpsable by the most powerful of our telescopes, exactly as we have perceived that remote cluster. And, then, we might make the same mistake by supposing that we were looking at an independent "universe."

Neither time nor space can divide what is essentially one, and nothing yet discovered indicates any fundamental discontinuity inherent in the different systems of stars through distance. As far as gravitation and the luminiferous ether extend, one cosmic unity, one law, one system.
